

MENTORING SKILLS DEVELOPMENT CERTIFICATE PROGRAM FALL SEMESTER 2017

As child care practitioners, we often rely on colleagues to support us and guide us as we grow personally and professionally, and we approach one another to seek acknowledgement and validation in our practice. The skills that facilitate and enhance these relationships are mentoring skills.

This seminar series will provide you with mentoring skills for enhancing the early childhood practice of both yourself and your colleagues. It uses the Partners in Practice Mentoring Model to develop those skills. The vision of the Partners in Practice Mentoring Model is that every child care practitioner belongs to a mentoring culture. Within that culture, their voices are articulated, expressed and heard in a safe, ethical environment. Members of the mentoring culture support and recognize each other, are reflective practitioners, exercise honour, respect and modesty and engage in continuous growth and learning.

Mentoring is a partnership; a relationship between two people built on mutual trust and respect. This series will provide you with the skills to be an effective member of a mentoring pair, a relationship in which you will give and receive support and recognition for each other as you learn together.

A mentoring culture supports and encourages people to grow as learners, to reach their full potential, develop skills, and improve one's performance to reach goals. As you progress through the series you will gain skills as a member of a mentoring pair-facilitating growth in your mentoring partners and yourself as you become a member of a mentoring culture.

NSCCA support s early childhood educator in their professional practice. Using the Partnerships in Practice module we will explore the infrastructure necessary to support mentoring with ECE's- Support and Recognition, Reflective Practice, Continuous Growth and Building Relationships.
